THE INSIDER'S GUIDE TO SHOPPING IN TORONTO

You'll find many more stores in Toronto than are listed here, but the recommendations in this guide are based on the personal adventures of IABC/Toronto's own members and suggestions from friends, colleagues, www.modernurbanguides.com and publications like Toronto Life Shopping Guide. The recommended stores are also generally just a short walk, transit or cab ride away.

This guide is the kind of thing I have wanted in other cities while attending IABC World Conferences, and I hope you find it useful. Thanks so much to Christina Scicluna for her shopping expertise, and to Teri McMahon, R.G.D., for the layout. Enjoy!

SHOPPING AREAS

You can shop in Toronto seven days a week, and the larger department stores are generally open during the week from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday until 7 p.m. and Sunday until 6 p.m. Smaller stores may only be open until 9 p.m. on Thursday and Friday. Where an area has specific hours, these are noted below. For information on transit routes and schedules, call the Toronto Transit Commission (TTC) at 416-393-4636; exact cash fares are $3.

Eaton Centre

If you're just sneaking out between conference sessions and have limited time, your best bet is the Eaton Centre. From the Sheraton, it's just a few minutes walk east to Yonge St. The mall stretches from Queen Street north to Dundas and holds more than 230 retailers, restaurants and services. Open weekdays from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturdays, from 9:30 a.m. to 7 p.m.; and Sundays, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Distillery District

The historic Distillery District features brick-lined streets and restored Victorian industrial buildings, and is home to theatres, galleries, boutiques, cafes and restaurants. If you have time, it's about a 25-minute walk from the Sheraton. Otherwise, take the subway at Yonge St. south to King station; transfer to the #504 streetcar along King to Trinity St. Hours of operation are Monday through Wednesday, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Thursday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.; and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Kensington Market

Kensington Market offers cool vintage shops, books, rare vinyl and CDs, independent designers and inexpensive basics. It's about a 25-minute walk, north on Bay St. to Dundas, west on Dundas past Spadina to Kensington Avenue. By transit, walk five minutes north on Bay St. to Dundas; take the #505 Dundas West streetcar and get off at Spadina Ave. The market is open seven days a week, with best shopping between 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

King Street West

King Street is a major east/west commercial thoroughfare named after King George III, the reigning British monarch when the street was built. The area is marked by edgy design, antique and vintage shops. From the Sheraton, it's about a 20-minute walk; go south on University one city block and head west. Or take the subway at Yonge St. one stop south to King, and go west, young shopper.

Little Italy

This trendy district has a warm, European atmosphere. Most of the shopping — for innovative Canadian designs, hip fashion and more — plus restaurants and bars are found along College St., north of Dundas between Bathurst and Ossington. Not far from Kensington Market, it's about a 45-minute walk from the Sheraton. From Kensington Market, walk north to College St. and head west.

Queen Street West and West Queen Street West

Queen West — named after Queen Victoria — is where you go to find everything trendy, cool, artsy and funky. Queen Street West covers roughly Yonge Street to Bathurst Street; West Queen St. West covers Queen west from Bathurst. Ride the streetcar west from the Sheraton or walk about 20 minutes.

St. Lawrence Market

More than 120 specialty merchants meet at Front and Jarvis Streets. A farmer's market happens every Saturday and an antique market on Sunday. From the Sheraton, take the subway at Yonge St. south to Union station and walk east along Front St. for three blocks. Open Tuesday to Thursday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Friday 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday 5 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Yorkville

This area has been compared to Fifth Avenue in New York, Rodeo Drive in Los Angeles, and the Magnificent Mile in Chicago. The area is lined with labels such as Gucci, Hermes and Prada and Canadian retail icons Harry Rosen and Holt Renfrew. From the Sheraton, walk north on Bay St. (or Yonge, for a more interesting walk) past Bloor to Yorkville Ave., about 30 minutes. Or take the subway at Yonge St. and ride north to the Bloor stop.

DEPARTMENT STORES

Toronto's big department stores offer one-stop shopping for accessories, cosmetics, clothing (men's, women's and children's), jewelry, housewares and more.

Holt Renfrew / Yorkville

50 Bloor St. W. at Bay
416-922-2333

The Canadian equivalent of Saks in New York, or Harrods in London. If it's a big designer name, you'll find it here. Check out the newly launched The Room for designer wear, and the West End Shop for men's wear.

The Bay / Yonge St.

176 Yonge St. at Queen
416-861-9111

The flagship store of the iconic Hudson's Bay Company chain, commonly known as the Bay, is just down the street from the Sheraton. Quality merchandise and stylish brands at mid- to upper-prices. Official supplier of the 2010 Vancouver Olympics wear.

Sears / Eaton Centre

290 Yonge St. at Dundas
416-349-7111

The flagship store of this chain anchors one end of the Eaton Centre. Fashions for everyone, jewelry, beauty products, bedding, luggage, housewares, tools and electronics.
